WAR CLOUDS HOVER OVER THE BALKANS

MUSSOLINI'S ALBANIAN PACT DISTURBS CENTRAL EUROPE

Jugo-Slavia Cabinet Resigns as Protest Against Secret Military Proposal Made by Rome With Scutari, the Fine Italian Hand of the Facaist Chief Seen In the Diplomatic Triumph—He Put One Over—League In a Turmoil.

Trouble is seething over Italy's new treaty with Albania. Jugoslavia is aflame with anger; her Foreign Minister Dr. Ninchitch, resigned Tuesday night as a protest, and the whole cabinet, headed by M. Ouzounovitch, followed his lead, to attract the world's attention to what he has described as the "new and grave situation" and what generally is regarded as a serious danger to central European peace.

Even the League of Nations is greatly disturbed over these events, advices from Geneva, say, for Dr. Ninchitch was president of the last assembly of the league, and complications of a widespread nature are feared.

Jugoslavia is a heavily armed nation with an estimated force of 200,000 men. It is feared, too, that Mussolini's program of expansion and alliances will run afoul of the "Little Entente," which, in large measure, was developed by Ninchitch.

The Jugoslavs are reported to be garding the Italo-Albanian Alliance as "disloyalty" to their country and other Balkan nations, and the Belgrade newspaper Politicia prints a statement from an unconfirmed source in Sucutari that the pact contains a secret military clause, whereby Italy undertakes to go to the defense of the Albanian government if need be.

Official quarters in Paris, however, are without confirmation of the existence of such a clause.

The Scutari reports further say the military clause gives Italy naval bases at Durazzo, San Giovanni di Medua, Scutari and Avlona.

The view taken is that the Albanian pact is the more serious when it is realized that Belgrade, long suspicious of Italy, has a secret treaty with Hungary, her northern neighbor, and it is known that Italy has been cultivating Greece, Jugo-Slavia's southern neighbor, for 18 months.

Jugo-Slavia is strengthened by the "Little Entente" alliance with Czecho-Slovakia and Roumania, but always has looked to France for support as the only nation with great military power.

Jugo-Slavia has had its troubles with the Hungarian minority and the strongly conflicting racial characteristics of its peoples, like most of Central Europe.

Albania has had a checkered career both along the borders of Jugo-Slavia and by reason of banditry and insurrections within her own borders the latest of which petered out a week ago. The country is without railroads and has been greatly under Italian influence.

This always has annoyed Jugo-Slavia, and has aggravated skirmishes along the frontier, which have been intermittent since the arminstice. This general situation is used to justify Jugo-Slavia's large armed forces and her military expenses, which are 28 per cent of her revenue.

Witches Being Sought in German Community

Leipzig, Germany.—Belief in witchcraft and sorcery still persists in some parts of rural Germany. A wave of the old superstition has been sweeping the little hamlet of Wrescherode, near Gauersheim, and while there have been no burnings at the stake, life has been made miserable for several unfortunate suspects, both men and women.

An automobile was wrecked near the house of a supposed witch, and it was excitedly charged that the witch had caused the accident by expectorating on the roadway just before the car passed. When a young girl was taken ill it was averred she had been bewitched and she was shut in a dark room for three days while incantations were chanted periodically to exorcise the evil spirits. Outside the house door armed men stationed themselves with the hope of catching the evil ones, but it is not recorded that any were caught.

Some people actually appear to cultivate unhappiness.

HIGHWAYMAN MAKES HAUL IN CIRCLEVILLE

Fred Howard Relieved of $206 and Oscar Miller Forked Over Eight Simoleons.

Fred Howard and Oscar Miller had the experience of their lives Tuesday evening out at Seyfert's Park. They drove out above 8:30 o'clock stopped at the park, drove in and shut off the engine of their car, both men got of the auto and as they did they were confronted by a stick-up artist, who commanded Mr. Howard to "stick 'em up." The latter was slow and the bandit knocked him down and said: "I told you to stock 'em up." This time Howard's hands went heavenward and Miller, who was away some distance, came up to see what was going on, and he was commanded to follow Mr. Howard's actions which he did quickly. Mr. Howard was relieved of all his paper money amounting to $206 and Mr. Miller turned over $8, all he had on his person. The bandit was considerate as he allowed Mr. Howard to retain all his small change, but he cleaned Mr. Miller.

After taking their money, he ordered both men to beat it and they did. They came to town and reported the hold-up to Sheriff Young. The man is described as a big burly fellow.

SPECIAL POLICEMAN

Captain W. B. Cady was appointed a special policeman on the force Tuesday by Safety Director Salter. The appointment is for thirty days and he will be retained if he passes the civil service examination, which has been called by the mayor to meet in a few days and hold an examination.

The appointment has been made necessary so the mayor says by the great number of men attracted to this city by the construction of the new railroad, the Chesapeake & Hocking, which has brought in a miscellaneous bunch of nondescript strangers whom it is thought should be given the once over nightly. Mr. Cady is an old army man and is big enough to handle the situation.

NORFOLK AND WESTERN MEN AT BANQUET

Santa Claus and His Reindeers Coming—To Honor Master Farmer.

It was Norfolk & Western night at the chamber of commerce meeting held at the community house of the U. B. church Tuesday evening.

Four Norfolk & Western officials were present at the banquet. They were Harry C. Weiler, general superintendent, Bluefield, West Virginia; D. F. Peters, superintendent, Scioto division, Portsmouth; B. K. Clapp, local agent, and John M. Kirwin, local cashier.

Glenn I Nickerson, of the Christmas tree decorative committee, reported that 88 merchants had purchased trees and would decorate the same. It was also decided to have Main and Court streets specially illuminated Christmas week. The Christmas trees will arrive next Monday and will be put up at once.

Next Monday promises to be a gala day for the kiddies. Santa Claus will be here from the North Pole and he will drive seven reindeers. Mayor Fitzpatrick has secured nearly $50 worth of candy to make the hearts of every "kid" glad. This candy will be distributed free, so be on hand and get yours. The chamber of commerce thru the thoughtfulness of the mayor, who originated the idea, donated the sweets.

A testimonial meeting given in honor of John C. Stevenson, recently selected a Master Farmer, will be given at the next meeting at the parish house of St. Philip's church Tuesday evening. Robert Wylie, R. L. Brehmen and T. O. Gilliland were appointed as a ticket committee and E. S. Neuding as manager and general commissary for the banquet. The Farm Bureau and Chamber of Commerce will join in honoring Mr. Stevenson and his family.

The speaker of the evening was Mr. Weller, who gave a most interesting talk. Among other things he said:

"The one effort of the Norfolk & Western family and when I speak of family it means every employe is to render an adequate service to the traveling public. The Norfolk & Western railroad company has 4414 miles of road, of this mileage, 2223 are main lines and branches, the balance is composed of sidings, switches and passing trackage.

"The roads runs from the Atlantic seaboard to Columbus and Cincinnati it traverses seven states Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina and Maryland. The road has forty-seven different railroad connecting points and a quarter of a million cars are interchanged every month.

In the year, 1925, the company spent fifteen million of dollars for maintainence alone, $1,200,000 was spent for installing block signals, over 65,000 tons of rails, costing three millions of dollars were laid last year, and these rails run from one hundred to 130 pounds to the yard. In 1925, the company finished electrifying 56 miles of road. The company pays annually in taxes $8,600,000 and this year with increase of taxes, will pay out between ten and eleven million dollars, the company has thirty thousand employes.

Mr. Weller is an Ohioian and was born on the county line between Ross and Highland. He spent his early life in Chillicothe and often came to this city and played baseball.

RATTAN IN PHILIPPINES

The 56,000 square miles of virgin forests in the Philippines are well stocked with crude rattan. It is estimated that about 750 lineal feet of this product, varying in diameter from one fourth of an inch to two inches, can be cut from one acre of forest land. The best Philippine rattan is known as "sika." At present the rattan industry is in an undeveloped state because of lack of capital. Provinces that lead in rattan production are, in the order of importance, Ambos, Camerines, Sorsogon, Tayabas, Occidental Negroes and Samar. According to the last Philippine census, the Philippine cut of rattan, split and otherwise, was 85,000,000 pounds.—Philippine Progress.

DANGEROUS TO WALK ON ROAD

J. F. Ward Is Second Man Killed On the Scioto Trail At Night.

Chillicothe, Dec. 7.—J. F. Ward, 25, employed by the C. & H., north of Hopetown, was fatally injured at 6:45 Saturday night, when he was hit by a taxi driven by Walter Hughes, 67 Ewing street, on the Scioto Trail, a mile north of Hopetown. Hughes rushed him to the hospital here, where he died at 8 p. m., of a fractured skull.

Ward was walking along the road and was about to meet two companions, Edward Jinks, Circleville, R. F. D. 2, and William Holtman, another C. & H. employee, who were waiting on Ward. The trio were to take a short cut to the traction line and come to Chillicothe.

Hughes said he did not see Ward until it was too late to stop. Holtman and Jinks said Hughes was apparently not going fast and when they turned around they saw Ward walking along the edge of the paved road. They did not see him in the road. The driver said that Ward darted in front of him unexpectedly.

The taxi driver told police he had a call the other side of Hopetown and when he got there, the party failed to show up and he started back to Chillicothe, when the mishap occurred. The taxi belongs to Charles Clingman.

Ward, according to railroad construction officials, is survived by a stepfather and comes from the South. He had been working for the railroad north of Hopetown.

Bullocks Are His Pride

Bob Flood of Walgett, N. S. W., owns a team of 26 bullocks which he treats gentlemanly at all times. He has never been heard to swear at any of them, though in conversation he frequently uses profanity. When working his team he never carries a whip and seldom, if ever, has to speak to them louder than in an ordinary tone. His team is the envy of carriers within 100 miles of Walgett.

A BUYING GUIDE

Before you order dinner at a restaurant, you consult the bill-of-fare. Before you take a long trip by motor-car, you pore over road maps. Before you start out on a shopping trip, you should consult the advertisements in this paper. For the same reasons! The advertising columns are a buying guide to you in the purchase of everything you need—including amusements! A guide that saves your time and conserves your energy; that saves useless steps and guards against false ones; that puts the s-t-r-e-t-c-h in family budgets.

The advertisements in this paper are so interesting, it is difficult to see how anyone could overlook them—fail to profit by them. Just check with yourself and be sure that you are reading the advertisements regularly—the big ones and the little ones. It is time well spent—always.

Avoid time-wasting, money-wasting detours on the road to merchandise value. Read the advertising "road maps."

The little fellow honestly answered: "Dad did!"

JESSE POMEROY.

This week Jesse Pomeroy, most famed among American prisoners, celebrated his fifty-first year in prison. He entered the forbidding walls which were to shut him from comradeship with his fellows of the world when he was but 17. He had been sentenced to solitary confinement for life for murder of a child. Numerous efforts were made to have him pardoned or paroled. All failed.

Jesse Pomeroy could not know the world of today; the procession of life long ago passed him by. He possesses the lingering shreds and tatters of existence, but that is all. His mind can hold no affinity with the things that are—with the wondrous miracles of physical achievement which have become the commonplace of the life of the present.

More than a half century in prison! Perhaps the passage of the leaden years have numbed his sensibilities to insensitive slumber. Perhaps he still is capable of intensive mental suffering. Who shall say? But the chances are that he now is indifferent to the idiosyncracies of Fate—that he is but an organism that mechanically eats, sleeps, wakes again to consciousness of the demands of a rigid, sordid routine.

But could the fate of Jesse Pomeroy be visualized as a probable certainty by the criminal depredator of today there assurdedly would be less criminal activity in the major fields of lawless assault upon society.

This case imposes another lesson. The smug-faced and well-content, the average "respectable" citizen may not be too deeply impressed by this immolation of a human life upon the altar of—shall we say justice?—but there are more forms of imprisonment than one. Many a man now walking the ways of life, breathing the sweet airs of physical freedom, is as surely doomed to remorseless, relentless imprisonment for all the years of his existence as is Jesse Pomeroy. Men are held by the bondage of ignorance, of superstition, of vice, of pride, of intolerance quite as much and more often than by prison bars. Perhaps these are more to be pitied than Jesse Pomerow, who has rusted toward awsome decay, mental and physical, through half a century in his grim Massachusetts prison.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

BRITISH ADMIRAL

Likened To the "Boy Who Stood on the Burning Deck" By His Wife, Formerly Ethel Field, of Chicago.

Reigate, England, Dec. 6.—Admiral of the Fleet Earl Beatty was the object of raillery from Lady Beatty as he stood last night on the roof of his residence, Reigate Priory, directing the fire fighters in quenching a blaze.

Standing amid a group of dinner guests who had rushed out of the house when the fire was discovered on the roof, Lady Beatty, who was Ethel Field, daughter of Marshal Field of Chicago, twitted the admiral about being the boy who stood on the burning deck and with his inability to resist the opportunity for taking command.

Earl Beatty had reached the roof by climbing up a gutter pipe, and under his direction the firemen put out the blaze.

PAY TRIBUTE TO PICKAWAY COUNTY BOY

Colonel Griener Was Dominant Factor in Developing High Type of Men.

The Culver Citizen, of Culver Indiana, in its issue of December 1, had the following in reference to Colonel B. H. Greiner, commandant of the Culver Military Academy, who died on that day. Colonel Greiner was born in Walnut township, this county and was a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Greiner.

The Culver Citizen says:

"This community was greatly shocked this morning by the sudden death of Colonel B. H. Greiner, commandant of the Culver Military Academy. The death occurred at 9 o'clock and the cause was given as embolism of the heart.

"Colonel Greiner had been confined to his home for the past ten days with heart trouble, but had improved sufficiently during the past few days until he was able to be out of the house.

"This morning, he felt a pain in his chest and the doctors were called and were in consultation with him when the end suddenly came. He was in bed at the time.

"Thirty years ago, October, 1896, Colonel Greiner came to the academy at the same time Col. Glascock and Col. Fleet were added to the faculty. He then held the rank of captain. During that time, he has made himself a part of the academy and has taken an active interest in the welfare of this community. He has been a dominant factor in the high type of manhood developed by the academy and has made a host of friends among the citizens of this community. Probably no member of the faculty has any more friends among the townspeople that Col. Greiner and his loss will be as much to every individual as to the academy and the corps of cadets.

"He leaves to mourn his untimely departure from this life, his widow, Mrs. B. H. Greiner, his son, Edwin C. Greiner, who is at present stationed at Manila, Philippine Islands, as second lieutenant in the 26th cavalry; and his many friends.

"The present plans are to hold the funeral Friday at a time to be announced later. The funeral will be with full military honors and interment will be in the Masonic cemetery here."

New Wage Solution

Chinese coolies in tea godowns pulled a new stunt in the history of labor movements during their recent strike when they kidnaped three of their employers in China, and taking them to a vacant lot, forced them to sign a bond acceding to their demands for an increase of 10 cents silver a day. More than 1,000 employees benefited by the action.

SENATOR IS DEAD AT HOME IN ILLINOIS

William B. McKinley Passed Away After a Long Illness of Cancer.

The body of United States Senator William B. McKinley, who died at Martinsville, Indiana, late Tuesday afternoon, will be taken to his home in Champaign, Illinois.

Senator McKinley's death followed an illness which necessitated his entering a hospital during the latter part of August. Several times during his confinement he had been near death but until Tuesday afternoon his dominant will had kept him alive Death resulted from prostatic cancer. The senator was 70 years old.

According to announcement the funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon from the First Presbyterian church in Champaign.

For 20 years Senator McKinley was prominent in congress. The last six were spent in the senate.

Beginning life as a poor clerk his first job paid him $4.50 per week. He became one of the dominant factors in middlewestern transportation and he was reputed to be one of the wealthiest men in congress.

In recent years he conducted a campaign of donations to charitable institutions and during the last ten years is said to have donated in the neighborhood of ten million dollars in public and private philanthropies.

MONDAY CLUB MEETING WAS MUSICAL ONE

The music department of the Monday club had charge of the program at the meeting of November 6. Italian opera was the topic for the evening and the consideration of three of the compositions of Giacomo Puccini afforded a most interesting study. Miss Jeannette Rowe read a biography of Puccini and a synopsis of "Laboheme" which is his masterpiece. Selections from this opera were sung by Mrs. Harry Heffner and Miss Helen Marion.

Mrs. Evan Reichelderfer gave a review of Puccini's new opera, "Tirondot" which has just lately been produced.

Mrs. Christian Schwarz told the story of "Madame Butterfly." Selections from this opera consisting of a song "One Fine Day" by Mrs. Clark Will, a duet by Mrs. Will and Miss Marion and a piano arrangement of "The Waiting Motive" played by Miss Anna Schleyer were interpolated during the telling of the story. Miss Abbe M. Clarke accompanied the singers.

AMUSEMENTS

The trickiest, funniest, fastest football game ever played. That's what you'll see in Paramount's latest Richard Dix comedy, "The Quarterback" which arrives at the Met theater today. Richard and his pal, David Butler, are working their way thru Colton by means of a milk delivery route. To speed matters up, they utilize their football knowledge and send their bottles whizzing thru the air. Then—when they actually get in the game—action starts and never stops till the final whistle blows.

But there's much more to "The Quarterback" than just a football game! W. O. McGeehan and William Slavens McNutt have provided Director Fred Newmeyer with a real story. And in its transfer to the screen, nary a thing has been lost.

"The Quarterback" opens with an 1899 prologue. The star quarterback of Colton college, Harry Beresford, has proposed to Mona Palma. She accepts with the proviso that he remain at school until Colton beats her ancient rival, State. Some twenty-seven years later, he is still "one of the boys." Mona has died and his son now plays dad's old position.

Richard is infatuated with Esther Ralston, a State co-ed. Their romance flourishes until the day of the big game. Then— come a series of startling surprises. Things start to go wrong and—well, why try to describe it?

See "The Quarterback" Richard Dix has never had a better vehicle!

The lessons of life must be learned page at a time.

Lost—A Yellow Mongrel

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

(Copyright.)

"CONFOUND you, quit sniffing at my heels!" The young man turned crossly on the shaggy nondescript creature which had followed him for several blocks.

Dixon Blaine had troubles of his own—or thought he had—and didn't feel like wasting his time on dogs but he had a soft heart and there was something about the animal which reminded him of that pampered creature belonging to the girl of his dreams and by her so petted and made so much of as to arouse envy in his breast.

So he picked up the dog and walked on, becoming once more absorbed in the all-important question—how was he going to make the acquaintance of Betty Lou?

Oh, yes, he had discovered her name by careful circuitous inquiry, but he had been quite unable to unearth anywhere that boon to young men in his condition—an eligible mutual acquaintance. Living in the same block, he and Betty Lou shared the same iceman, paper boy and grocer.

Still possessed of the dog, he turned in at his sister's house and, not finding that lady in, proceeded to rummage the icebox for the refugee. Then he wandered out to the veranda and found the evening paper.

Ordinarily he read the sporting page first and ultimately wound up with the editorials but tonight he was halted in the middle of the advertisements by an insert in the Lost and Found column.

"Lost—A yellow mongrel, answers to the name of Rags. Finder please return to Miss Betty Lou Collins, 57 Cox avenue."

"Gosh!" exclaimed Dixon, thoughtfully. "Gosh!" Then, "Rags!" he fairly shouted and the animal quivered and lifted one inquiring eyelid.

"The gods are with me!" chuckled Dixon. "Come on, you blonde beast." He snatched up the dog and hurried out of the gate. Presently, a bit breathless, he was ringing the Collins' doorbell.

"Oh!" Betty Lou in person had opened the door. Betty Lou, piquantly pretty and considerably flustrated.

"I—I saw your advertisement in the paper, Miss Collins, and having just found the dog, I thought—you see, I tried the name on him and he responded and—"

"Yes, indeed," said Betty Lou, "I understand. Thank you so much." She hesitated, then came swiftly out to the couch hammock, reached out her arms for the dog, and nodded towards a rocker. "Tell me all about it," she begged.

What could the young man do but sit down and plunge into detail? Something told him that the more he talked the more he could gaze at Betty Lou. And for a man who had for months been longing to meet her, this was too good an opportunity to be lightly passed up.

All might have been well had not a middle-aged man turned in at the gate. Considering that it was Betty Lou's father come home to supper, he could not have been expected to remain away, but for a moment events took an embarrassing turn.

Dixon had risen at once. "I had the privilege of finding your daughter's dog," he explained pleasantly.

"Oh, yes," said the gentleman. "A great nuisance, too. Chewed my slippers and—why—"

Dixon, following his glance, saw, to his surprise, that Betty Lou, very red of face, seemed to be attempting to conceal the dog behind her and the couch hammock back.

"That isn't our dog," declared her father testily. "Don't you know your own dog, Betty?"

At that moment a voice issued from the kitchen where presumably Betty Lou's mother was getting supper, unaware of significant happenings on her veranda. "Oh, Betty Lou! That old tramp dog of yours is back again in the yard!"

Silence reigned for several minutes. Then, as Betty Lou's father, with rather an odd expression upon his face, passed indoors, Betty Lou held out the object under discussion. "Perhaps he isn't ours," she said in a meek little voice. "There is a resemblance, and you said he answered to his name!"

"I'm afraid," said Dixon slowly, "that it's all my fault. You see, I knew it wasn't your dog, but—" he floundered and then continued, pleadingly: "I have wanted to know you for so long and didn't know anyone to introduce us and—well, I sort of used the dog as a mutual acquaintance. Besides," he added brightly, "if you didn't know your own dog, you could hardly expect me to, now could you?"

But it was many moons before Dixon understood just why, at this point, Betty Lou flung back her pretty head and laughed and laughed. And when she finally told him, her pretty head was resting in the hollow of his shoulder and both her hands were held in his.

"You old darling," she told him then, "the minute I laid eyes on him I knew that mangy cur wasn't my darling Rags, but for months I had wanted to know you—the only good-looking man on the block—oh, yes, you are, Dickie, absolutely—and so, well, I was every bit as bad as you. I think," she went on serfously, "that where two persons are really meant by fate for each other, it's quite all right to—to—"

"—to manufacture a mutual acquaintance out of a mangy mongrel. Exactly," said Dixon. "So do I!"

CHILDREN PLANT CHRISTMAS TREES

Xenia, Dec. 6.—Santa Claus is going to lose his job of bringing Christmas trees to the boys and girls of Yellow Springs because they are planting their own.

A grove of 500 thrifty specimens of the Norway spruce in Antioch glen were planted by Yellow Springs school children, who will add 300 trees to the lot December 15, when the third public planting will take place.

Theodore F. Laist, head of the department of lumber research at Antioch College inaugurated the plan in order to arouse interest in forestry conservation among the young people, and help discourage the annual destruction of thousands of trees through the Christmas tree harvests. In three years, he estimates, Yellow Springs children will be able to cut their own Christmas trees.

The first lot of 350 trees was planted in a corner of Antioch glen last December. Three hundred were added to the grove last Arbor Day.

KING FERDINAND OPERATED UPON

Bucharest, Rumania, Dec. 6.—A minor operation on King Ferdinand was performed today by the French surgeon, Professor Hartmann.

The royal physicians were present and not more than a quarter of an hour was occupied in performing the operation.

"Only the age of the patient justifies us in giving the name "operation" to the minor incision, which was made today," one of the doctors remarked on leaving the palace. Official information was to the effect that the incision was nearly an inch and a half long and that it was the common surgical treatment for hemoorrhoids.

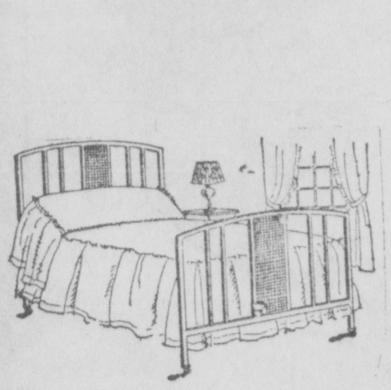
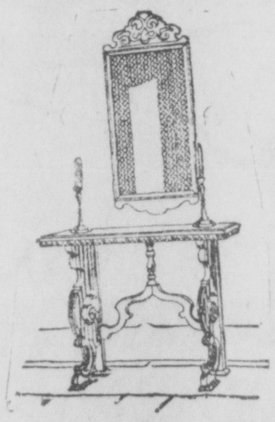
Will Your Hearthside Gleam With Christmas Cheer?

A ruddy fire, a tinseled tree, soft glowing candles, sprigs of holly and mistletoe—of such is Christmas made. But they are only the outward signs of joy. They cannot be the making of it. Real happiness comes from the manifest love of family and friends and from comfort in the home. Christmas is the time when kindred spirits assemble and Home is the meeting place. Is yours in welcoming condition? Will you be proud of it when your guests arrive? Ease and luxury depend on appearance as well as comfort. Shabbiness detracts from happiness and that feeling of well-being that belongs to the holidays. Don't let it ruin your Christmas cheer; it probably can be easily remedied. Let Santa plan to cozy up every cranny and nook that yours may be a Christmas home. Better see him about it right away.



If the arrival of holiday guests makes the purchase of a new bed a necessity, an inexpensive way out is to buy one of metal. They have all the appearance of grained wood, and are as durable as any bed made. They come in single or double sizes, in a variety of patterns.

Your Home Should Come First



First impressions are often lasting. That's why hallways should be faultlessly attired. However, first glances aren't all they receive for they're the spots where lingering callers take their farewells. A table just large enough for candles—and cards, topped by a gleaming, graceful mirror is what the hallway most depends upon for its impression.

CLUB WINNERS OF PICKAWAY IN COLUMBUS

Irene Baird of Deercreek, Gives Splendid Account of Trip.

Can you imagine in the homes of some over four hundred, everything peaceable, secluded and calm Monday morning, November 15? No, I hardly think you can, for it not only marked the twelfth annual 4-H Club Week in Ohio, but also ushered in the rabbit season for the ninth time, if not more. Probably this is one of the reasons for the absence of so many boys. Probably others would have liked to have been hunting, too; I think they will all confess now they are glad they went and will always afterwards seize the opportunity to do so.

Nevertheless, over four hundred of Dean Vivian's grandchildren, as he called us, who were either representatives or club winners from all over the state of Ohio arrived in Columbus sometime Monday morning. Grandpa Vivian said that he was supposed to be in Washington D. C. last week attending the session of the Land Grant Colleges association; but he was here, he said, because he would rather stay with his family. And the family, by by the way, included at Club Week 280 girls, 132 boys, 24 chaperones and nine officers, a total of 445.

The club winners from Pickaway county attending were as follows: Dorothy Anderson, of Pickaway township, representing Logan Elm Food club; Henry Kaiser, of Walnut township, representing the Corn club and Laura Tener and myself, of Deercreek township, representing the Live Wire Clothing club. We were taken to Columbus early Monday morning on the traction car. We went to the Southern hotel while Mr. C. C. Long directed Henry to the Columbus hotel.

After registering, we were taken to our rooms by the bellboys. We girls with the Pike county girls were roommates at 542 on the fifth floor. After inspecting our new home, we were directed to the restaurant across the street from the hotel for lunch.

Our first meeting was at 3 o'clock at University hall on the campus. After being given a glad welcome by Grandpa Vivian, as we were introduced to him and singing songs, we were organized into groups. Mr. C. C. Long had charge of this. Several counties were grouped together and over each one was a chaperon and over each company was a major.

Mrs. Hines from Wayne county was our chaperon and Mr. L. B. Mayer from Paulding county our major. We three girls from Pickaway with the Wayne, Perry and Pike county girls were in group 22. This meeting was called chapel and each and every morning excepting Friday when we went down town to Lazarus' department store, Capitol, 10c Store, etc. This is where we assembled to the devotionals, singing, yells and be told where we were scheduled for the day.

At 5:30 we were taken to supper. The groups were divided, part going to Northminster Presbyterian church, others to King avenue M. E. church. At both places the menu, made of up of wholesome foods, were planned by the Nutrition department, but the ladies of these churches carried them out. We ate all of our meals here excepting Friday and Saturday mornings. Then we ate at the hotel.

In the evening we were taken to the gymnasium or rather armory where most of us entered in games such as; taking hogs to market, donkey, etc. This, as as you know, was enjoyed by all and to cap the climax we were served refreshments of cakes and brick ice cream. We then got on the street car, or rather cars, for we couldn't all get on one and if many more did I pity the car for it just seemed to tremble as it was with our shouting voices, especially after being taught to yell loud at assembly and armory. We girls were taken direct to the hotel and can you imagine everything quiet at the Southern hotel after 280 girls arrived? Can you imagine how long we slept? If you had been there you could have told by our looks especially Saturday morning after the last night.

Tuesday morning found everybody wide awake (if you can believe it) and down in the lobby ready to go to breakfast at the church. Many interesting things were scheduled for that day. At assembly Mrs. C. E. Lively gave a talk on Courtesy in which she told us of the perfect fitting garment of good conduct.

Music Appreciation was given by Miss Fannie Buchanan from the Victor Talking Machine Co., Camden. New Jersey, in which she showed us how to appreciate good music when we heard it. To still hold our interest more she gave a music memory contest Friday night at university hall. There were several perfect scores; more she said than she had ever seen at any of the places where she had been in the United States. Aren't you proud of Grandpa Vivians' grandchildren and Ohio's sons and daughters?

Other features of the day were as follows: How to keep well in Columbus while there by Dr. E. R. Hayhurst. My Room, by Mrs. Grace Walker. This was the rearranging of a disorderly room by several girls of the Ohio State university. Posture play, by Miss Wanda Przyluska. The main thread being, it isn't the load that breaks us down, its the way we carry it. Also Initiation Ceremony, by Willing Workers' club of Licking county. In this we learned many new ideas to carry back home to make our clubs better.

Almost every evening before supper we were given from an hour to an hour and a half to visit places of interest on the campus. Our group visited the museum, Ohio State library, stadium, greenhouse, radio station WEAO and various other buildings.

It seems as tho the most interesting things were held at night at the University hall, when all groups both boys and girls met they were as follows: The Value of Jewels, by Miss Gladys Coon, of the National Dairy council, Chicago, Illinois. The jewels were green vegetables, fruits, bath tubs, beds, eight to nine hours sleep etc. Picture show of boys and girls of other lands and America and presentation of scholarships and prizes by Grandpa Vivian. The Fashion show in which the main thing was good health leads the mode in the fashion show of life and the Health Circus also by Miss Coon. Musical pantomime and contest, which I have mentioned before by Miss Buchanan and last but not least the picture show "A Kiss for Cinderella." In the 5-H Gazette, which was published daily during club week there was found this article. Lost: Mr. Ward said we would receive a kiss for Cinderella last evening. We would like to know if any of the boys who were searching for Cinderella found her?

The most important happenings during the remainder of the week besides what we have mentioned were the 4-H conferences, one of the new features which has been said in our gazette showed that club members were thinking more in terms of leadership than ever before. At these conferences we decided what the object of club work was. It being to use the best ways of doing things on the farm and in the home as a means of training boys and girls in 4-H life. The 4-H life consists of Heart, Health, Hand and Head. The other event of club week was the meeting of the Master farmers. Mr. John Stevenson, of Jackson township, was selected from Pickaway county. At this meeting Senator Capper, of Kansas, gave the remarks. We were interested in his personality, as well as intellectually for it was the first time I expect the majority of us had ever seen a United States senator.

From all the interesting things, which I have dictated, I know every boy and girl will be anxious to make the best better in next year's work and see them with their own eyes. I encourage them to do so. It will be the experience of their lives, it is not only educational but a lot of fun as well.

I wish to thank all who in any way helped to make my last year of Clothing club work so successful and the people of the Ohio State university in behalf of the clubs of '26 for the interesting things we saw and heard and for the good times we had.

Irene Baird.
